Dumping of Russian Oil in Dominion May Invoke Treaty Power

Aluminum Company's Arrangement With Soviets for Importation of $1,000,000 Worth of Crude Causes Stir in East—Contrary to Spirit of Canada's Demand at Imperial Conference

(Special to The Colonist)

MONTREAL, Sept. 16.—Arrival here of the Danish tanker Aase Maersk, bearing 9,000 tons of Russian crude oil from the Black Sea, has created a situation of more than national interest. The consignment from the Soviet wells at Batum follows closely upon the desperate fight put up by Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett and his colleagues at the Imperial Economic Conference to stop dumping of Russian products into Great Britain in competition with those of other Empire areas.

Many Survey Proposals Are to Be Investigated

Merger of Legal Department With Clerk's Office, Curtailment of Staff, Tax Dates, Car and Telephone Allowance Among Recommendations

Many of the recommendations contained in the survey report made of civic administration by the auditing firm of Ismay, Bolton & Holden were referred to committees for further investigation and report when the survey was discussed at a special meeting of the council held yesterday.

It is planned to have representatives of the auditing firm act as advisers at these meetings, which will be private so that a freer discussion can be obtained of departmental and staff matters.

LEGAL DEPARTMENT

Among the recommendations to be considered by the legislative committee in addition to the drafting of the controller by-law is the proposed merger between the city clerk's office and the legal department.

Under the auditors' proposal, the solicitor would become the city clerk and another solicitor would be appointed as an assistant. There were those who wanted to know what would become of the present city clerk, who was not qualified to be an underwriter of the city solicitor. The opinion was expressed that another position might be found to recompense him for the years of service he had given and the study he had made of civic matters as they apply to city clerk's duties.

The question of merging the assessor's department with the controller's department was referred to the finance committee for report.

CURTAIN STAFF

Curtailment of public works and waterworks department staff was left for the city engineer and controller to work out. Particular attention is to be devoted to the skeletonization of maintenance gangs.

Advancement of dates for final payment of taxes to bring the penalties into conformity with those of adjacent municipalities was another matter to be referred to the finance committee for report.

This committee also will investigate the advisability of the city buying and maintaining its own automobiles rather than paying employees monthly allowances for the use of their private cars. The same action was taken in connection with employees' telephones paid for by the city.

The finance committee also will investigate the advisability of sending out water bills once every two months. The auditors, in recommending this change, pointed out that $7,800 a year could be saved in salaries alone, not to mention the saving in wear and tear on calculating machines, fewer typewriters, addressographs and less stationery.

not held by oil refining companies, and it was predicted that if the importations of Russian crude were permitted to continue that it might be expected that serious curtailment of their activities, with consequent unemployment, would result.

SPIRIT OF TREATY

Another angle of the situation that is causing concern is the effect that it may have on the carrying out of the spirit of the Ottawa arrangements. If Canada now opens her doors to Russian oil, the result may be to endanger the understanding reached at Ottawa relative to "carrying out the spirit of the letter, but the spirit" of Imperial preferences.

With Canadian lumber, wheat, salmon and agricultural products seeking British markets under the treaty, the commencement of Canadian oil trade on a large scale with Russia might react unfavorably to the Dominion, it is contended.

FINANCES OF CITY ROSIER MAYOR SAYS

Surplus Expected If Collection of Taxes Continues at Present Rate

RECEIPTS AHEAD

With expenditures for the first half of the year only a few hundred dollars short of $800,000, civic officials are looking forward to ending the year with a well-balanced budget and possibly a surplus if tax collections reach 85 per cent of the total levy.

This was revealed yesterday when City Comptroller D. A. Macdonald submitted a financial statement for the first six months of the year.

Only in four instances were appropriations exceeded in the first six months of this year. In all other departments the expenditures are within the appropriations, with many cases far below what had been expected.

ENCOURAGING FEATURE

Probably the most encouraging feature of the entire report is that dealing with receipts. Up to the end of August a total of $785,863 was collected as compared with $660,645 for the same period of last year. Estimated receipts for the year amount to $1,090,583, so that with the halfway mark passed on the calendar, there is more than 70 per cent of the estimated receipts collected.

Taxes on land and improvements are coming in steadily, with many persons having taken advantage of the property tax.

MAYOR GRATIFIED

Mayor David Leeming is particularly gratified with the financial situation that the city is in, and believes that if the taxpayers will rally to the cause and pay their bills before the penalty date, the city will end the year in a fine position.

A further indication that the city's financial position is stronger than ever is evinced by the many inquiries for the city's remaining $200,000 of the $500,000 bond issue which was authorized by the electorate last year.

Many of the bonds which were sold over the counter and a block of which the city had intended to reserve for its own investment had been picked up at par. Since the city advertised them at par, it is felt that belated applicants can be refused. However, there is no intention to sell the remaining $200,000 of the $500,000 unless circumstances force the city to market them.

It is interesting to note, however, that the offers for this issue are close to par and that the situation is steadily improving.

MOVEMENT IS PROGRESSING

Speakers Urge Support of Back-to-Land Scheme Being Organized

Wholehearted support of the back-to-the-land movement of the Co-operative Land League of British Columbia was urged by speakers who addressed a gathering of more than 300 persons, in the City Temple last night. Fred Landsberg, president of the league, presided.

The speakers included Dr. G. W. Davidson and J. S. Pudney, the latter being the promoter of the movement.

In a brief opening address Mr. Landsberg announced his sympathy with the scheme, which he felt could be made one of the most successful of the world under the present conditions. Mr. Landsberg felt that the relief system was unsatisfactory, adding that success to the movement would mean independence to those taking part. There was no reason why it should not succeed, he said, for the world was not as bad as it was painted. The report he had received today was that the movement was progressing.

SHOULD CONSULT MEMBERS

Mr. Landsberg urged the organization to present its case to the Victoria Board of Trade, the Chamber of Commerce, the Victoria City Council, and the British Columbia Legislature.

"It is one of the finest schemes I have ever seen," he continued, "and it is one of the most successful of the world under the present conditions. Mr. Landsberg felt that the relief system was unsatisfactory, adding that success to the movement would mean independence to those taking part. There was no reason why it should not succeed, he said, for the world was not as bad as it was painted. The report he had received today was that the movement was progressing."

CHAMBERLAIN

Mrs. James Cook, Robertson Settlement, has returned to her home after a visit with her parents in Calgary.

Mrs. Charles Baker has gone to Vancouver, and from there is motoring with a party to Portland, where they will attend the convention of the Daughters of Scotia.

Mrs. Vipond, of Vancouver, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. E. Proteau.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Vancouver, are spending a few days here with Mr. Charles Baker.

About twenty members of the Baptist Calvary Church called upon Rev. H. F. and Mrs. Hargreaves at their home on Severn Street recently. The party was a "surprise," and greatly enjoyed by all.

Mr. Jack Carey, of Powell River, was in Chemainus recently and sailed from here en route to England aboard S.S. Beljeune, a freighter, bound for London.

Premiums Paid on Life Insurance in B.C. Show Increase

Annual Report of Superintendent H. G. Garrett to Attorney-General Pooley Contains Timely Review of Part Played by Coverage

LIFE insurance premiums paid in British Columbia for the year 1931 were larger than in the year previous, and the net amount of insurance in force was also greater, H. G. Garrett, superintendent of insurance, states in his annual report, released yesterday by Attorney-General Pooley.

The report shows $446,384,433 as net life insurance in force within the province; $14,835,253 paid in premiums during the year, and $3,126,467 in claims paid, including matured endowments. Unsettled claims amounting to $335,636 were pending but not resisted, while the total of related claims was but $102. Premiums paid in 1930 totaled $14,282,000, while life insurance in force was $438,702,000.

ON HIGH PLANE

With 3,695 registered insurance agents and salesmen operating for all classes of insurance firms, and 924 real estate agents and registered realty salesmen, there were no suspensions of licences during the year, and no cancellations, Mr. Garrett reports. Commenting on the various forms of insurance, the report states, in part:

"The figures for life insurance may be regarded as quite favorable in view of the continued depression. The premiums for the year exceeded those for the previous year, and the net amount in force is larger—on the other hand the gross amount of new policies, and the number of these, is less. Life insurance companies are contending with many difficulties, but there is no doubt that they will effect economies and improvements in their business, and tend to regard the permanency of life insurance as more highly than mere volume. Life insurance, as an institution, will emerge all the sounder. The public need not feel any apprehension as to the ability to meet all obligations," Mr. Garrett comments.

FIRE LOSSES LESS

"As the amount of fire insurance carried depends largely on the volume of business and the value of property insured, it is pleasant to note that in this province the value of premiums in 1931 was so little below the figures for 1930, while the losses were nearly $1,000,000 less. No company in Canada has become insolvent, nor has any American company licensed here," he notes. Net premiums written in 1931 were $5,316,372, and net losses paid, $2,563,371; a loss ratio of 48.92 per cent compared with 62.90 per cent in the year previous.

"Automobile premiums and losses were both slightly less than in the preceding year, the ratio being about the same and the losses still high. The new provisions of the Insurance Act, with related provisions of the Motor Vehicles Act, came into force on September 1," Mr. Garrett states. Tables show net premiums of $1,969,000 written on automobile insurance, and $1,181,000 paid in net losses—a loss ratio of 59.92 per cent.

SECURITY VALUES

The valuation of securities for the purposes of annual statements is touched on in the report, giving rulings in that regard, and supporting the action taken in Canada in respect to the values as expressed in market quotations at June 30, 1931. A too-arbitrary ruling on valuations would force need-

FOUND GUILTY OF DECEPTION

Albert N. Grice Will Be Sentenced Tuesday by Judge P. S. Lampman

Albert N. Grice, charged in the County Court with having by false pretences obtained relief from the city and of also making a false declaration in connection with the transaction, was found guilty yesterday morning on both counts by Judge P. S. Lampman. On the application of counsel for the accused, sentence was not passed pending the submission of character evidence in favor of the accused. The case was adjourned until Tuesday, at 10:30 o'clock, to allow C. H. O'Halloran to produce witnesses to testify as to the character of Grice.

When the case was called yesterday, evidence was supplemented by that of Charles Cross, who testified that the accused was his son-in-law. Since March, which was the time covered in the charges against the accused, Mr. Cross said that one of the two children of the family of the accused had been living at the home of the witness.

TECHNICAL OBJECTIONS
Mr. O'Halloran attacked the case for the Crown on technical grounds as to the form of the charges laid against Grice. He said there was no evidence submitted to show that the accused did not support his wife and family. On the second charge, that there was a false declaration, it would have to be shown that the commissioner who took the declaration had the right to do so. He knew of no authority for the form of declaration upon which was based the issuing of relief.

He further argued that this was not a case of obtaining either money or goods by false pretences. The accused had been paid for work which he did for the city. He got no goods from the city, but simply his pay. He got no goods from the grocer, etc. There was no false pretence in as far as the grocer was concerned.

COMBATED ARGUMENT

Gordon A. Cameron, for the Crown, combated this argument, setting out that the commissioner who acted for the city, had full authority under the statutes to take the affidavits which he did. The accused had made the statement that his wife and two children and himself were living at 742 Johnson Street in filling his application for relief under the heading of a married man.

On the strength of this he had obtained goods and money. None of the family was being supported by him. The accused had been given an application for aid, given Vancouver as the residence of his wife and children. When he found that this was not true, he did not tell the truth, he had later submitted that they lived with him here.

"CANNOT STEAL WORK"

"You cannot steal work," interjected Judge Lampman, when it was suggested that through the misrepresentation, work had been given for which pay was drawn.

"And further, no one appears to want to steal it," added His Honor. Mr. O'Halloran, in reply, took the position that affidavits which a commissioner was permitted to take were confined to those given voluntarily. There was also an absence of any evidence to show that the accused was instructed that in the making of the declaration it carried the same force as if taken under oath.

FOUND GUILTY

By the statements made by the accused, he had obtained tickets and tokens which were exchanged for milk, bread, etc. The accused was found guilty on both counts.

JUDGE SUSPENDS BOY'S SENTENCE

Cyril Clarke Pleads Guilty to Stealing Boat and Has Case Disposed of at Once

Electing speedy trial before Judge P. S. Lampman in the County Court yesterday, and pleading guilty to the charge of stealing a power launch at Discovery Island, Cyril Clarke was allowed his liberty on suspended sentence. W. T. Straith, counsel for the accused, submitted to the court a report made by medical men with regard to the accused youth, and with the acquiescence of the Attorney-General's department, pleaded for suspended sentence.

Walter Colvin, of the Attorney-General's department, stated that the department had gone fully into the matter and was agreeable to this course being recommended. Mr. Straith informed the court that if damage had been done to the boat, friends of the accused would undertake to put it in first-class shape again.

The accused is to report on or about the first of every second month to the clerk of the peace, extending over a year's time.

Astronomer Back From Important Conference

W. E. Harper, of Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Attended International Union Sessions at Boston After Solar Eclipse

"A rich experience!" is how W. E. Harper, assistant director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Victoria, describes the sessions of the International Astronomical Union, held at Cambridge, Mass., from which he has just returned.

This was only the fourth meeting of the union, which, in the ordinary way meets every three years; but in 1922, and the second in Cambridge, England, in 1925. This was the first opportunity which Mr. Harper had had to be present, and he found the papers, as well as the personnel, extremely interesting.

TWENTY-FIVE COUNTRIES

"Twenty-five different countries were represented among the 250 astronomers who attended," he reported yesterday. The French delegation was a particularly large one, the party, including wives of the astronomers, numbering twenty-seven. It was probably in recognition of the keen interest of the French that the union accepted their invitation to hold the next meeting in Paris in 1935.

Canada sent only eight delegates, three from Victoria, three from Ottawa, one from Toronto, and one from Montreal. Mr. Harper was particularly interested in the reports of two of the numerous commissions or committees, viz., that on stellar radial velocities and that on stellar parallaxes, being a member of both. Slightly to his disappointment, however, there was very little discussion on those or any of the other reports, as the commissions function in the intervals between the meetings and have their reports all prepared months in advance of the sessions of the union.

SOLAR ECLIPSE

Before going down to Boston to attend the International Astronomical Union meetings, Mr. Harper went to Magog, Quebec, where he joined the group of British astronomers who were gathered to watch the solar eclipse.

At the meeting of the local society of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada on Tuesday evening, he will tell about this.

ELECT OFFICERS OF SAANICH BODY

E. H. Fisher, Again Heads Mount View Parent-Teacher Association—Reports Received

E. H. Fisher was re-elected president of Mount View Parent-Teacher Association at the annual meeting held in the school on Tuesday. W. Garner, principal of the school, was named vice-president and R. B. Prendergast, second vice-president. Miss May Beane was re-elected secretary, while the following will comprise the executive committee for the ensuing year: Mrs. McLaughlin, Mrs. Shelley, Mrs. Prendergast, W. J. Lynn and H. L. Briggs. Mrs. W. J. Lynn was appointed treasurer.

Committees for the various activities of the organization will be appointed at the next meeting. The president's report for the past year showed satisfactory results considering the short period the association has been operating. The financial statement showed a bank balance of $152, derived from revenue taken on the day the high school opened.

Arrangements for a social and dance to mark the opening of the Winter season were discussed. The affair is expected to take place in the school auditorium on Friday, September 23. The association also hopes to sponsor numerous card parties during the season.

Next Saturday a cricket match will be played between the newly formed high school team and a team from the association.

UNIVERSITY FUNDS MISSING

As affecting any system of business-like management of the affairs of any institution, with the necessary checks provided by auditors, it is difficult to visualize a situation such as has developed regarding the finances of the University of Manitoba. Nearly a million dollars of the funds of the university are missing. A court prosecution is in progress. Recriminations are passing to and fro as to the distribution of responsibility. Since public funds are involved, whatever the legislation that exists, it is indoubtedly the Provincial Government that in the last analysis must bear the onus.

What system, if any, of auditing has there been in recent years of the university's finances?
It appears that many of the university securities are in bearer bonds, yet that fact does not seem to have aroused any suspicion. Obviously, if auditors had been at work they would have insisted on the exchange of these bonds for registered securities. Experienced and alert auditors could have prevented the defalcations which have occurred to the tune of nearly a million dollars, or perhaps the largest disappearance of funds of its kind in the history of the Dominion.

It is now stated that the lack of auditing in connection with the University of Manitoba's funds follows closely on what must have been "weak auditing" of the Provincial Savings Bank of Manitoba and of the finances of the Farm Loans Board. These all constitute danger signals of want of supervision of public funds, for the university funds, to the extent that they included the taxpayers' money, come under the category of "public." It is not surprising that because of recent revelations the public of Manitoba have become alarmed. The efficiency of governmental administration is under suspicion.
What is wanted is obviously a judicial commission to inquire into all the circumstances under which the university funds disappeared. The punishment of whoever is guilty is insufficient.

WAR DISABILITIES

A committee to inquire into the administration of the Pension Act is to commence its sessions next week under the chairmanship of Mr.
Justice Rinfret. The committee was appointed because of representations made by veterans' organizations throughout the country, particularly in relation to alleged pension frauds, to delays in inquiries into cases where pensions were claimed, to a cumbersome administrative machinery and the almost interminable delays of the Pension Court of Appeal. There is undoubted justice in the plea that war pensions require some change in administration because delays in too many cases have been too prolonged, and the operations of the court of appeal at Ottawa have come particularly under the censure of veterans' organizations.

There is one point that could well be remembered in the inquiry about to start. That is that the people do not want details of allowances made to disabled men exposed to public scrutiny.
The men themselves will not welcome such publicity. They are not ashamed of being recipients of pensions, but in the case of war veterans the allowances show the extent, the nature and the degree of their disabilities, which are personal matters and should be treated with privacy. This practice has been followed ever since the institution of war pensions. The present inquiry should respect this privacy, and if necessary hold some of its sessions in camera.

MASS PRODUCTION

The disequilibrium in gold holdings has had its effect on economic conditions. There is also a disequilibrium that has arisen between producers of food and raw materials and producers of manufactured goods and merchants, a portent
in modern industrial conditions to which little notice has been given. Professor H. J. Fleure, in his presidential address to the Section of Geography of the British Association, has drawn attention to this disequilibrium, and attributes it, in part at least, to various types of society the world over attempting to graft on their ancient heritage the new scheme of mass production.

Professor Fleure sees in the development of conditions, whether intentionally or not, how the peoples of the world, touched by the idea of mass production, are jostling one another as never before, and various types of society have become a standing danger to others. The old-time plea of Adam Smith for specialization between individuals and between parts of a nation has become a plea for the specialization of nations, and the laissez faire doctrine which has followed it has been an idea that all would be for the best if economic rivalry were unbridled and the best were allowed to win freely. In the light of conditions that have arisen this conception has to be re-examined.

In pursuit of his argument Professor Fleure traces the history of traditionalism in an economic sense. He shows the trends of both rural and urban life in various nations. He sees a conflict between different ideas of society underlying the present difficulties of the world, and nowhere is it so acute as in France and Germany.
There is, as well, the spread of large scale industrialism in the United States and Japan and the prospect of its emergence elsewhere. He sees nearly half of mankind in the moonland lands of Asia, apart from Japan, being shaken out of its traditional schemes by contact with the West.
He sees nationalistic ideas germinating in various ways alongside of schemes of industrial development that borrow from the West to such an extent as to be a danger to indigenous society.

Professor Fleure admits there has been a difficult phase of the world's life reached. "Traditionalism," he says, "is challenged everywhere in economic, social and religious life as never before. The social group is inevitably part of a great future whole, and yet is being forced to think more of its roots in its own soil. Each group has its problems and needs the help of others. England has her population problem, France her need to safeguard her peasant tradition, Germany her need to develop her schemes of welfare planning, and so on. But the development of each without domination by any is a very difficult idea to work out, and in our attempts we are all too likely to try to crystallize out some condition of status quo, forgetting that life has changed as one of its basic characteristics.

The study of men and their environments that we geographers pursue is necessarily always relative to a particular time, and must always be looked at in the broad frame of the life of mankind as a whole."

OVERDOING MECHANIZATION

Another scientific leader has confessed to his skepticism as to the unbridled benefits of science and to the need of the spiritual element in the highly mechanized social fabric of today. In his recent address from the chair of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, Sir Alfred Ewing, the eminent Scotch engineer, who was until three years ago principal of Edinburgh University, expressed his consciousness of a changed spirit towards the mechanized progress that has marked the past century. "Admiration is tempered by criticism, complacency has given place to doubt, and doubt is passing into illusion." Man's life, it is fully conceded, has been made fuller, healthier and richer in such comforts as material things can provide. The gifts of modern science, however, have been and may be abused because of a lack of moral spiritual forces adequate to handle them.

Commenting on this obvious outlook, Sir Alfred said: "Man is ethically unprepared for so great a bounty. In the slow evolution of morals
he is still unfit for the tremendous responsibility it entails. The command of nature has been put into his hands before he knows how to command himself. Herein lies potential tragedy. Modern inventiveness, for example, has put into the hands of the war spirit sinister powers capable of the ghastliest wholesale destruction of human lives." Not for many years, according to one journalistic comment, has a president of the British Association plunged so valiantly into the realms of spirit, or challenged so courageously the materialistic view of life.

TO ARRAN

(Arran, in the Office of a Beautiful Girl, Is Calling
Her Lover)

O Arran, mo-thasaidh, I'm coming to thee,
Thy beauty is calling me o'er the wide sea;
Thy dark raven tresses, the light of thy smile,
Thy purple hair have dowered thee, my heart to beguile.

With purple o' heather thy black locks are bound,
Flower-decked the green mantle that wraps thee
around;
The ocean thy cradle, where gulls nest thy throne,
And my heart for thy footstool, sweet Arran, my own.

O Arran, mo-thasaidh, I'm coming to thee,
For love, like a fierce flame, is burning in me;
I long to be with thee, rare jewel of mine,
Fair Arran the peerless, all lovely thou art!

—Joan B. White, in The Edinburgh Weekly Scotsman

VISIONS IN THE HOUR-GLASS

Silken primrose skirts a-flowing,
Naughty peep of red petticoat showing;
Farewell flurry of pink-tipped fingers,
Slim lilac arm that a moment lingers
Above gateway of the west—
And Day is fled!

A winsome child with starry load,
Idly wanders along the road,
Sapphire eyes crowned by amber hair,
Lips murmuring hesitant prayer,
Peace enfolds the quivering earth—
And Twilight comes!

An old, old man, so worldly wise,
Cynical laughter glinting his eyes,
Trails the hem of his dusky cloak Rudely round unheeding folk;
Out of those folds a dream of dreams—
And Night goes by!

—Beryl Aldridge.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

"For wars that are dark and tricks that are vain, the health of China is not in its politics."

The last burgomaster of New Amsterdam, according to the historical historian, Washington Irving, was a ponderous wise cracker. The late mayor of New York, according to the recorders of history, the newspapers, was a sprightly wisecracker. The last burgomaster of New Amsterdam regarded both himself and his position very seriously. The late mayor of New York cracked jokes about himself and his position, but behind the mask of the buffoon there was a serious face and below the bells of the clown there was a brain which understood how to take advantage of material circumstances. Mayor Jimmy was a very practical politician, and whether in perpetual exile or in the bright lights of Broadway his future is assured without having to fall back upon his first and foremost occupation and singing jingling rhymes for the entertainment of the patrons of the music halls or listeners in over the radio.

The once popular Jimmy was one of the ripe fruits of modern democracy. He was not as scornful of the multitude as the Roman democrat Coriolanus. With all the attractions of his personality and all the winning qualities of his smile and his wise cracks, he could never have become a great political figure if that other ripe fruit of modern democracy, Tammany Hall, had not adopted him and accepted responsibility for his destiny.
Tammany put Jimmy in, but it could not keep him in after the once fortunate but now unfortunate Jimmy had been found out.
Both the Hall and its favorite have found out that the greatest democrat of them all expressed a great and fundamental truth, in modern jargon "said a mouthful," when he declared, "you can fool part of the people part of the time, but you cannot fool all the people all the time."

Sooner or later there comes a day of reckoning, not only to politicians of the Jimmy Walker type, but to all politicians who adopt the eminently practical principle that public office paves the way to private opportunity—that when the wise and resourceful politician enters office and closes the front door behind him, the real door of opportunity is the back door, and that is always left open.

Jimmy says he will come back; but he has been found out, and Tammany's heart is always closed and sealed against those of its disciples who have been found guilty of "indiscretions." The door of political opportunity is wide open to the Democratic party of the United States as the date of the presidential election approaches, and it is not often that Tammany Hall has such a splendid opportunity of being on the winning side.
The party machine of the big city is not going to take the side of discredited Jimmy Walker against such a powerful political figure and potential president as Governor Roosevelt. The hitherto demoralized little wise cracker will come back to the United States, but he will not be a dominating political figure any more after he comes back. He has committed the unforgivable sin of permitting himself to be found out. Tammany during the course of its long and somewhat dubious history has dominated the administration of the affairs of New York, and most of the officials
it elected or appointed to office, from the lowest to the highest, were expected to make the most of their opportunities, provided they operated in such a manner as to leave no trace of their operations.

"Some of us have begun to feel that the shriek of the young is at least as monotonous as the groan of the old." That is another wise crack by the ponderous wise cracker of London, Mr. G. K.
Chesterton, and we trust is an indication that this eminent sage and literary celebrity, like the oracle of all the British "advanced thinkers and shrill shriekers," the equally eminent Mr. George Bernard Shaw, has seen the error of his ways and is inclined to recant.

Mr. Chesterton always has been a sort of philosophical and political enigma to the common order of persons, who read his alleged allegorical stories and essays, although they cannot understand the purpose of them. We confess to being of that low order; but always have been fascinated by the contrast between the great philosopher and word juggler's views upon such a fundamental matter as religion and his theories upon such equally important subjects as social organization and the principles of government.

On every subject of deep human interest except religion—or possibly it would be more correct to say theology—Mr. Chesterton is a shrieking radical. On the subject of theology he is a convinced, and apparently convicted, conservative.

All the literary worshippers of the oracle Shaw have been shrieking for several years through almost every one of their essays and books for the disestablishment of the old social order and the old conventional moral order and the establishment of a new order under which all conventional restrictions would be destroyed and the human race emancipated and all men and women, like all creatures of the lower order, permitted to give free rein to their animal passions. For confirmation of this statement, read, if you can without disgust, some of the books of Aldous Huxley, a modern British literary light.

OF GRIEF

Grief wears a sombre dress and so men turn Away when she draws near.
The things she has to teach they could not learn.
Her tears they would not hear.
On flying feet they haste from her with dread.

With her they would not share
A portion of their daily drink or bread,
Or grant a fire-side chair.

Yet every door must open to her
touch,
With all she finds a place;
Oh, you who fear her coming overlook
Look well upon her face!
See there her gentle beauty, see revealed

Her strange, majestic peace;
These things her solemn raiment
long concealed,
Once known, your fears will cease.

For you will find how tender grief
can be,
What friends come in her train;
With unmoored heart, then, you can never Another's grief again.

The recent start of the new George Arliss picture, "A Successful Calamity," now at the Dominion Theatre, on the Warner Bros. lot in California, was an aid to the unemployment problem in more ways than one.

Not only were the members of the cast and crew given work for a considerable period, but six men were given work during the length of the production as special policemen, guarding the Arliss sets.

Two sets of guards, working eight hours each, and covering the entire twenty-four hours, watched the Arliss while the picture was in progress and guarded the thousands of dollars' worth of priceless antique and period furniture and decorations used in the production.

Nearly $50,000 worth of furniture and fixtures appear in this picture, according to Whitley Wilson, property custodian for Warner Bros. "much of this loaned and rented to us only because it was to be used in an Arliss production. We couldn't afford to take any chances of loss. We had guards on the sets constantly."

ROMANO Eddie Quillan, who THEATRE plays the starring part in the RKO. Pathe picture, "Sweepstakes," now at the Romano Theatre, is a vaudeville performer of long standing, despite the fact that he is only twenty-three years of age and has been playing starting roles on the screen for some time. From the time he was able to walk and talk he was part of the Quillan act, and toured the big-time vaudeville circuits with his two brothers, a sister, and his Scotch-Irish parents.

EMPIRE Freakish futurism is a THEATRE thing definitely to be avoided in set construction, Lawrence Williams, the art director of the Paramount British production, "Life Goes On," now at the Empire Theatre, told a press interviewer. "Studio settings should conform to the basic principles of modern building construction," said Mr. Williams, "and anything in the nature of freakish styles should be ruled out entirely. All the sets used in 'Life Goes On' are strictly in line with these principles, and any architect who sees the film could visualize how the rest of the hotel would look, though we only show some of the main rooms."

CAPITOL William Powell, as the THEATRE character "Jewel Robbery," in which he is co-starring with Kay Francis at the Capitol Theatre, has contributed a new note to the technique of the highwayman's art. For the entertainment of his "guests" while they are being relieved of their valuables, Powell carries a portable phonograph and a selection of dance records. Also shown on the same bill is "Young America," starring Spencer Tracy, Doris Kenyon and Tommy Conlon.

PLAYHOUSE Gary Cooper, co- THEATRE starring with Claudette Colbert in "His Woman," new Paramount love drama, takes pride in the fact that his "duke ranch" in Montana was a camping site chosen by the Lewis and Clark expedition in 1805, the particular date of their visit being July 17. "His Woman" shows at the Playhouse Theatre last night.

COLUMBIA Harry Leon Wilson's THEATRE famous young story clerk who dreams of success in Hollywood, film-titled "Make Me a Star," featuring Stuart Erwin, closes tonight at the Columbia Theatre. Also on the same bill is "The Man From Yesterday," with Clive Brook.

"ARROWSMITH" HAS FINE SCREEN CAST

"Arrowsmith," Samuel Goldwyn's picture version of the master novel by Sinclair Lewis, which comes to the Empire Theatre next Friday, sets a new record for film casts. Besides Ronald Colman as the star, Helen Hayes and Richard Bennett, who head the supporting cast, are stage stars in their own right. Miss Hayes recently made her film debut in "The Sin of Madelon Claudet" and has been one of the most eminent actresses on Broadway since her triumph in "Coquette" four years ago. Bennett has been a leader in the American stage for twenty years, with star roles in plays like "The Who Gets Slapped" and "Damaged Goods" to his credit.

KINSMEN RESUME WINTER COURSE

Summer Reports and Plans for Coming Season Dealt With at Opening Meeting

Reports of Summer activities and plans for the approaching season were dealt with by members of the Kinmen Club at their first Fall meeting in the Empress Hotel, Thursday night. Vice-President A. Smith presided in the unavoidable absence of President Dr. Arthur Poyntz, who is in California on his annual vacation.

A lengthy report of the National Kinmen Convention held at St. James, Ont., was tabulated for perusal by the executive. On behalf of the sports committee, Jack Woodley reported on the athletic activities during the past two months, stating that Winter preparations had not been definitely drawn up, but would be reported on at the next meeting.

Robert Shanks, Kinmen delegate on the Service Clubs' Council, told the members that the council again intended to sponsor the appearance of the Seattle Symphony Orchestra in Victoria. Further details of the undertaking would be given later, he said.

It was decided that within the next sixty days the club would sponsor a ladies' night, when members of the Duncan and Vancouver clubs would be invited to attend with their wives and friends. It will be a formal affair, to include a dinner and entertainment, followed by dancing. A committee, with Robert Shanks as chairman and including George P. Patt and Fred Burns, was appointed to arrange for the evening.

Registration by Saanich Wards Recited by Enumerating Officials

While special registration on the provincial voters' list in Saanich closed yesterday, thirty days before the Court of Revision to be held on October 17, normal process of registration will be kept up, it was stated last evening by W. O. Wallace.

This means that any voter who was by inadvertence omitted from the new list can record his or her name, and after a period of thirty days the name will be included on the list at the monthly Courts of Revision. The first Court of Revision will ratify the list as it stands, while any subsequent names can be added after thirty days' posting.

Results of the enumeration under special process in Saanich as finally checked by registration officials show a total list of 7,165 names, compared with 5,860 on the old list. Of these, 3,082 are entirely new registrations, while 1,791 names on the old list do not appear on the new, due mostly to removals from the area.

Registration by wards was as follows: Ward One, 631; Ward Two, 1,493; Ward Three, 673; Ward Four, 1,147; Ward Five, 612; Ward Six, 722; Ward Seven, 1,587.

The Columbia Diocesan Board was given a kindly welcome yesterday by Rev. F. and Mrs. Comley, on behalf of St. Columba branch, the members of which provided hospitality to the board in their usual generous way. A special welcome was extended by the first vice-president of the board, Mrs. James Dickson, to Mrs. Spencer Smith, of Los Angeles, who is vice-president of her board and its auxiliary. A standing tribute to the memory of three officers of the board was paid at the opening of the meeting. Mrs. Albert Toller, life member and organizing secretary up to 1915; Mrs. J. N. Nivlin, in the serious illness of her husband.

An interesting report of the Leaders' camp on Gambler Island was given by Miss Dorothy Brooks, and Mrs. H. V. Mills, secretary of the girls' branches, drew attention to the fact that this is the first time that a "teen-age" member has addressed the board. Miss Brooks was warmly thanked for her interesting account of the camp activities. Deaconess Robinson gave a detailed account of her recent visit to Up-Island branches and out-of-the-way settlements.

Just Among Us Girls

Love, like HAY FEVER, can't be hidden!

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Y.W.C.A. held yesterday afternoon, it was decided to reduce the monthly rates for permanent girls in order to meet present-day situations. The president, Mrs. Arthur Walsh, reported many alterations and repairs having been made in order to make the annex and main building more comfortable and home-like for the girls.

Under the girls' work and religious committee, many groups and classes have been planned for the winter, clubs, lecture groups, health, physical culture and educational groups all being included in the plans. Mrs. John Baxter reported that plans for Miss Law's visit from October 11 to 18 were under way and three days of the time will be occupied by a regional conference, when representatives and delegates from Vancouver and New Westminster and the club members will be in attendance.

Miss Ethel Law, of the Y.W.C.A. National Council at Toronto, is in charge of secretarial training work for Canada, and her visit of great interest to the British Columbia association.

REPORTS READ

Miss Gene McLeod, general secretary, reported that the Y.W.C.A. lounge at the Exhibition had been used by many women attending the Fair.

A report was given of the recent tea held in the grounds adjoining the building and also that 566 bottles of fruit had been preserved, which will assist in service work this winter, many of which had been sent to the Friendly Help already.

Final plans were made for the tag day on Saturday, September 24, when the headquarters will be in the Winsor Building, Fort Street. It was pointed out that this is the first occasion during the past four years when an appeal has been made to the general public to assist in the work of the Y.W.C.A. and it is sincerely hoped that the response will be wholesale.

WOULD PRESERVE ISLAND BEAUTY

C. L. Harrison Tells Value of Proposed West Coast of Vancouver Island to Tourist Trade in Address Given in Illustrated Address

The advisability of opening the West Coast of Vancouver Island to tourist trade was stressed by C. L. Harrison during an address given last night before a large audience in the James Bay United Church. Mr. Harrison illustrated his address with excellent colored lantern slides and moving pictures, which he had taken during various visits to Island beauty spots.

The speaker showed pictures of the coast from Barkley Sound to Jordan River, pointing out where tourist centres might be developed for the benefit of Vancouver Island. If this country were thrown open by road to visitors, Victoria particularly would reap a rich harvest from tourists, he said.

On an illustrated map Mr. Harrison sketched the proposed road, outlining the points of interest it would pass through. The speaker also dealt with the value of preserving the virgin timberland of the coast, asserting that much of the island's beauty was being destroyed by logging operations.

Rev. W. R. Brown acted as chairman, and conveyed the thanks of the gathering to Mr. Harrison. Musical selections were rendered by the following: J. M. Butler, solo; Mrs. Little, piano solo; and Miss Fay Ockenden, violin solo.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

YOUR BODY AND A MACHINE
It is only natural that for a great many years, physiologists, those that teach us about the workings of the body, should compare the body to a machine. They both take in fuel, give out heat and energy, and wastes must be removed from them, if they are to do their work properly.

However, the outstanding difference is that the coal or fuel that enters a steam boiler never becomes a part of the steam boiler, whereas the fuel—the food—that enters that body of yours not only creates heat and energy but builds itself as part of your body; it actually becomes you. I have always felt that we do not appreciate this wonderful phenomenon as we should.

Another difference between a machine and your body is that the machine requires no fuel when it is not working, whereas the body is using up food for fuel all the time, because while actual work or exercise is not being taken, your body processes continue to work even when you are asleep.

Another difference, showing the superiority of the body over the man-made machine, is that the body can store up surplus energy—extra oxygen in the lungs, sugar in the liver, bile in the gall bladder, oxygen in the tissues, insulin in the pancreas, red blood corpuscles in the bone marrow, and other reserve stores—that can be used in emergencies.

Not only can the body store these supplies to use should no food be available, but the body can actually go into debt by using this stored energy, the body requiring hours and days to get this supply back into the tissues again after the unusual need is past.

Another difference is that the body is always ready to act, to work. If you wish to strike or ward off a blow, to perform any act whatever, you can do it immediately, and no further energy is used up after the act is done. With the machine, it cannot act immediately, but requires time to get ready for work. And when the work is done, there is still some energy that is not used and so is wasted.

These are only a few of the differences between the body and the machine. You can thus see that while they are alike in some respects, that body of yours has the planning of the Master Mind.

What Today Means

"VIRGO"
If September 17 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m., from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. The danger periods are from noon to 2 p.m. and from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

The stars foretell for September 17, a day of countless worries and troubles, nothing very serious, but of the pin-pricking variety, mole-hills, not mountains. The mind will not be clear enough to tackle big problems; they should, therefore, be left to some more convenient season. The feeling of dissatisfaction will be in evidence all day and you will feel as though you "got out of bed the wrong side."

A child born on this September 17 is destined, by Fate, to acquire responsibilities at an early age, and will be equipped by nature to discharge them satisfactorily. It will be a careful student, but not unkind of necessary recreation. At times, moody and distrustful, it will spend quickly and reciprocally to affection and confidence.

Born on September 17, you are always meaning to do well, and then fall down on your self-made resolutions. You, better than anyone else, realize your shortcomings; you do not need to be told why you have not attained that degree of success to which you are entitled. You may fool others, but you never fool yourself, for no one is more competent along the lines of self-analysis. Not only as a diagnostician do you shine; you also know the remedies. You are, however, a poor patient and refuse to take the medicine. You live on Good Intention Street, but never land on Accomplishment Avenue.

As a woman, you are too gushing to carry conviction of sincerity; as a man, you are too melodramatic to justify confidence. The signs foretell that outstanding success is beyond your present reach. Only by the exercise of strength of character, only by the substitution of "I will be" for "I want to be," will your many good traits be profitably marketed. It is not what "you mean to do" that counts, but what "you do." In the home circle, you will always need a prop with which to keep your end up; whenever the prop goes, you will "flop."

Just Roamin' Around

By TWO ROVERS

Let's pretend! It's childhood's very best game. No use our pretending we never pretend, for, we know that even grown-ups love to indulge in this cheap and priceless and edifying pastime, at times.

Supposing you, or I, were the unquestioned possessor of, say, the "Portland Vase." Really, the right name for this ancient glass and enamel Greek vase, with its raised figures and devices in white enamel, is the "Barberini Vase," but that does not matter just now. And also supposing we lived in Victoria and had this most precious vase in our house, and that we treasured it as the "apple of our eye." Supposing, too, that we knew something of its history; knew that it was discovered near Rome in the 17th century, in the supposed tomb of Alexander Severus and his mother. That it was placed in the Barberini Palace, but in 1770 was bought by Sir William Hamilton, who sold it to the Duchess of Portland (hence the name); that in 1810 it came into the possession of the British Museum, was smashed in 1845 by an insane visitor, but so skilfully repaired that the damage is scarcely perceptible.

Wouldn't we take the utmost care of this, the most valued vase in the world? Wouldn't we be minutely careful who we allowed to lift it or touch it? Would we take it to a crowded football match? Would we have lugged it by one of those two-handlers to the "crush" on Thursday night when the generous Hudson's Bay Company put on its all free reception, and scattered a thousand, or more, townfolk crammed themselves, like sardines, into the store, into the storerooms, elevators and staircases, and swamped the palatial premises of "The Adventurers?"

WE WOULD NOT! Most assuredly we would not have risked destruction, or grave injury, to our darling treasure in such an insane and mad freak as to take our inestimable vase to where thousands of curiously-footed folk were elbowing and jostling each other for two hours! No, sir!

Nor would we have hauled the original Wedgwood plaque, which the great artist designer and pottery manufacturer especially made for the mantle over the fireplace in the dining-room of President Jefferson, which are of inestimable artistic and historic value, today, in a paper bag, on one of our arms, to the two and a half century old Jefferson store on Thursday night, just because we had no sense of understanding whatsoever! No, sir!

AND YET— There were several children in arms dragged or toted through that surging crowd, after their natural and proper bedtime, by parents who should know better, or who should not have been given the supreme blessing of becoming parents to what are the most priceless objects d'art in all the world—little children!

There were moments, on the main staircase, and after 9 o'clock, when a huge mass of struggling and sweating humanity shored and pushed, good naturedly, it is true, their hum and elbowing way both up and down the narrow ways from floor to floor; when strong men had to fight to maintain their perpendicular; when, but for the splendid marshalling and policing of the most courteous attendants, some would have been badly hurt. Thanks be, no one was; but, what if one of those little babies had been dropped or pushed out of a mother's arms? Who knows what might have happened. At any rate, it is about time that we bred sane parents, as well as providing for ambulances, hospitals, doctors and sweet nurses to take a hand in things after the accident!

Ross Somerville Scores Smashing 7-and-6 Victory Over Veteran Jesse Guilford as Omaha Ace Puts Out Defending Champion, Francis Ouimet, by 4-and-2 Count

ROSS SOMERVILLE

FIVE FARMS COURSE, BALTIMORE COUNTRY CLUB, Sept. 16 (AP).—The magic in Johnny Goodman's thin putting blade today dealt a dramatic finish to the comeback reign of Francis Ouimet and propelled the twenty-two-year-old "giant killer" from Omaha, Nebraska, into the final fight for the amateur golf championship of the United States by the margin of 4 and 2 against C. R. (Sandy) Somerville.

Goodman had the shots to cover a wide range of emergencies. Through the decisive middle stages of the match, Goodman wiped out Ouimet's early lead and forged himself into a margin that proved too much for the champion's belated rally to offset.

They were deadlocked after the morning round, but on the first seven holes of the afternoon Goodman became 4 up and just about clinched the decision. He won three of these holes with birdies.

Bobby Jones Advises Driving Off the Left Heel—Stay Behind the Ball to Get Smooth Swing and Correct Follow Through
By BOBBY JONES

It is difficult to note in the methods of expert golfers any precise agreement in the location of the ball with respect to the feet as the stance is taken. Yet, in watching both the expert and inexperienced variety, it is possible to say that the one common tendency for all is to creep ahead of the ball—that is, to play it too much off the right foot. I can remember no instance of a mistake in the other direction among players who had any conception at all of a proper golf stroke.

The best practice when playing a normal full-length shot without hook or slice seems to be to locate the ball just in front of the left heel, with hardly ever a variation of more than two or three inches either way. Not even the most accurate and consistent players will ever throughout one round address the ball at precisely the same point on every tee. Their instinctive reactions are able to accommodate a little change backward or forward. But the tendency is to creep ahead a little more and a little more until the correction or adjustment needed is too great to be made in a smooth swing.

In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred the player himself does not discover what he is doing until someone tells him or in desperation, after failing with every other corrective, he pulls himself behind the ball again.

Just the other day I was playing with Eric Ball, young professional at Highland, North Carolina. Ball is quite a good young golfer and up until a few days before we played he had been playing quite well. Then, he said, he felt his game slipping away from him and found himself unable to hold on although he recognized the symptoms and tried very hard.

On this day it was quite noticeable that he was creeping ahead of the ball in just the way I have described. He would fall into his natural position and then at each waggle of the club his feet would move a little more and a little more forward until in hitting he had to make an effort to yank the ball

HOMES MENAGED BY BUSH FIRES

Rockland Avenue Residences Were Threatened by Spectacular Afternoon Blaze

Bush and grass fires, this week, were climaxed yesterday by one of threatening proportions just north of Richardson Street, on the E. P. Fooley property, which lies to the west of Government House. Nearly 1,000 square feet of grass, bush and oaks were burned, as also were the seals, bridges and a Summer house, which lay in the path of the flames.

The fire is believed to have been started from an overheated incinerator in which rubbish had been disposed of by persons cleaning nearby property. Some children are believed to have fed branches of trees to the flames, and that this caused sparks to fly and ignite the tinderlike grass and bush.

Flames quickly spread, and for a time the property of Mrs. G. B. Holden, 1365 Rockland Avenue, was threatened. The hose was concentrated on this spot for some time before the menace was removed.

Manitoba Gold Find Reported

THE PAS, Man., Sept. 16 (CP).—Reports of a gold strike on the Barron Lands, 200 miles northwest of Churchill, have reached Mile 137 on the Hudson Bay Railway, according to a local prospector who claims to have picked up samples of the ore from Ekimnos and brought them to Churchill.

While it is rumored the samples assayed thousands of dollars to the ton, it is unknown how substantial a body of ore was found. The prospector, whose name could not be learned, is planning an airplane trip into the territory described by the Ekimnos, and it is reported other men from this town and from Mile 137 were awaiting confirmation of the strike to push into the Northland before the winter breaks.

Security Prices Dip After Rally At Wall Street

Wheat Prices Slump Before Close Wipe Out Gains at Eastern Exchanges

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP).—Stock trading slumped down to the smallest volume in a month today, with the market taking an irregularly lower course toward the close, after a volatile rally earlier in the day.

In both stock and bond markets, railroad securities did better than other categories, and carrier shares were the only group to close higher. Numerous rail loans rose 1 to 2 points. There were several large advances.

The market appeared to be feeling its way carefully after the more or less active selling of the current week.

Canadian Pacific was the favorite and turned over briskly, being helped by reports that current shipments of Dominion wheat were running in large volume. Lackawanna, in which New York Central is said to be increasing its holdings, ran up 4-1/2 and held the top.

U.S. Steel went down below 40 for a net decline of more than a point, while the preferred issue advanced 2-1/2.

Sales totaled 1,914,290 shares. Strength of United States Government loans and a spirited rally in the speculative rail group gave the bond market its first semblance of firmness in the past week.

Failure of the Treasury to exercise its prerogative in calling the first Liberty 4-1/4 yesterday acted as a tonic to the remainder of the Federal and Liberty first 4-1/4 and 3-1/2, together with Treasury 4-1/4 and 3-1/4, advanced fractionally to new highs for the year. Other Government issues were also active and moderately higher.

It was a comparatively dull session in point of volume, sales totaling only $10,670,000, per value. The rebound in the rail department, however, lifted the average for sixty corporate bonds two-tenths of a point.

Gains of 1 to 2 or more points were registered by some rail loans. The foreign department was quiet and moderately firm.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 16.—A pause in export demand and weaker wheat quotations at Liverpool brought downturns to wheat futures today. Hedging pressure was moderately heavy and early gains were erased in late trading. Closing prices were 1 to 1-1/2 lower than yesterday's figures.

October closed at 51, December at 52-7/8 and May at 57-7/8.

Pit operations were noticeably lighter due to the late export. There was a burst of hedging at the opening but this quickly dried up and offerings which came out later were comparatively light. It was estimated that 6,255,000 bushels of new crop wheat was hauled from farms throughout Western Canada on Thursday.

Despite the check in export support came from New York, seaboard and Continental houses. Cables confirmed the sale of ten cargoes Thursday, aggregating more than 2,000,000 bushels. In addition a considerable volume was taken for conveyance in liners. No figure was placed on sales today.

Demand for cash wheat continues fair. Amber durum advanced 1/4 with fractional gains in northern. Coarse grains were quiet.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Demand 1-1/2; cables 1-1/2 1/8. Sterling exchange. NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Demand 1-1/2; cables 1-1/2 1/8.

FANCIFUL FABLES

THE DOT CARTOONIST, BY GEORGE BELL
 "This is Lem Lemmon, first Mayor of Lemmonville. He started out with a lemonade stand. Then he became a contractor. In fact, he was the contractor who built your father's dog . . ." (Kindly draw straight lines between the numbers.)

"Your boy's no gentleman."
 "Says you! But he's had the luck to fall for a lady—which is more than yours has!"
 —The Humorist, London.

Assistant (to Beach Inspector)—What are we to do about that one down there, sir? She's wearing a bit of costume and then wait a bit before the next bit.
